Progress and Prosperity

GREAT DEMAND

FOR BUILDING LOTS

AT MISSION BEACH

George L. Barney and Thomas A. Rife, that popular pair of bright and industrious sales agents of the Mission Beach Company, report that the sale of lots at Mission Beach is anticipating the fast line railway construction. Only a few over three hundred lots are now left unsold north of the big amusement center, which is to be created in connection with the construction of the rapid transit railway. The demand has been especially strong for the higher priced lots on the ocean front, only 22 out of the original 150 choice lots remaining on the market.

RUSHING DISTRICT WORK

Completion of all resident district services and conveniences is now being hastened in Mission Beach by the Mission Beach company in an effort to keep in advance of construction of the new double track express service car line to the subdivision and paving of Mission Beach boulevard. Installation of sewer laterals under the boulevard, which alone involved expenditure of $25,000 has been recently finished and work on the main sewer line and the rest of the lateral system will begin as quickly as possible.

MILES OF GOOD WALKS

Rapid progress is reported on the work of extending the byside walk from the northern end of the peninsula southward to the amusement center boundary at Ventura street and laying sidewalks and curbs. In the item of walks, Mission Beach will have more than 25 miles of them, including four walks the length of the peninsula, about three miles.

WATER AND GAS SERVICE

Large crews are at work finishing up the big task of laying water mains for all connections north of Ventura street, and a contract has been given the San Diego Consolidated Gas & Electric company for completion of the gas main system throughout the same area.

WHOLESALE CONSTRUCTION

Rather than wait for piecemeal construction and installation, the Mission Beach company is proceeding with street, sewer and water improvements acceptable to the city, intent on having the subdivision completely ready for home builders. Already a great part of the tract has all services required and numerous homes are under construction.

CITIZENS MEETING

EXPRESSES SYMPATHY FOR UNFORTUNATE RESIDENT

At a special meeting of citizens called to convene at the Ocean Beach schoolhouse last Wednesday evening quite a large number of prominent local business men and representative residents of both sexes were in attendance. Upon due organization, and in accordance with approved regulations, a resolution was unanimously passed "expressing regretfulness for the present unfortunate predicament of a well known resident, R. J. Walsh, and extending sympathy to the members of his family in their present time of tribulation."

A hearing for probation in the Walsh case scheduled on the following day in the superior court, part 3, was postponed by Judge Edgar Luce until Saturday forenoon, October 27, upon application of counsel for the defense. The courtroom was well filled by a goodly crowd of interested Ocean Beach citizens.

SCHOOLS IN JAPAN

By ALICE CLARKE, Grade 5-A

In the Japanese cities we see many boys and girls going to school. They are carrying their books in their arms. Some of them have their ink bottles tied to their neck by a string. They swing the bottles to and fro as they walk along.

All the school boys of Japan wear divided skirts extending from the waist almost to the ankles. The school girls have plaited skirts of the same style as those of the boys, only longer and fuller. The girl's skirts are much finer.

The children have counting boxes made of wire with buttons on them.

HISTORY.

By LOCHLIEL CAMERON,
Grade 7-B

Montezuma II received me with great pomp and all his subjects, who believed me to be a descendant of the sun, cast themselves upon the ground before me. The king gave us a palace to live in, but knowing that my life was in danger I compelled Montezuma II to live with us. The people did not like to see their emperor a prisoner in his own palace and fearing an attack, I fell upon the Indians as they were holding a religious festival and killed many hundreds.

The Indians then chose the brother of Montezuma II for their ruler. The houses were soon filled with angry warriors. I compelled Montezuma II to stand up and command them to stop but the angry warriors struck him down. He died a few days later of a broken heart. After several days of hard fighting, we tried to escape, but the Indians killed over half of my soldiers before we could get away.

Because of ill feeling in Spain a Spanish fleet was sent to bring me back to Cuba. I captured this army and secured more soldiers. Then I marched against the city again. The bows and arrows, sphere and stones could not withstand my terrible horsemen and cannon. Thousands of Indians were killed before we conquered Mexico. The fighting ceased in the year of 1521 and the new country began to fill with Spanish settlers.

After several years, I longed to see my native land again, so I set sail and soon after reached the port of Palos and from there all along the journey I was greeted by crowds of people. The king did me a great wrong and I returned to Mexico, where the mines were pouring a steady stream of gold and silver into the treasury of Spain.

P. S.—Hernando Cortez died neglected by the king he had made rich.

AROUND THE WORLD.

By NINA BISHOP, 5th Grade.

The fifth grade is taking an imaginary trip around the world. We first sailed from San Francisco to the Hawaiian islands, where we enjoyed the surf bathing and other pleasure. We visited Fujiyama. It is a very pretty sight at night. From there we sailed out of Pearl Harbor to Yokohama in Japan. We also went to Tokyo where we saw queer houses. We saw people riding around in Jinikishas, pulled by men. These men can run very fast. They stop in front of shops to see the pretty toys.

We stopped in the Philippines on the way to Sydney, Australia. While in Australia we plan to visit a sheep ranch.

NAVAL RESERVES

HOLD JOLLY WEINIE ROAST

AT OCEAN BEACH

The members of the Naval Reserve corps held a happy weenie roast, preceded by outdoor athletic events, on the seashore, near the Merry-Go-Round, last Wednesday night. There was a goodly crowd in attendance, with a splendid sprinkling of the fair sex.

Walter Field, the popular life-guard and jovial boatswain acted as master of ceremonies in the "squared ring" as well as caterer at the serving tables on the sands. And in both instances he proved the right man in the right place.

Ensign Bayne held forth admirably as official announcer in the series of athletic events, consisting mainly of boxing bouts and wrestling matches.

The initial bout between Humason and Ford started the program at a lively clip and resulted in a draw. Ozmum and Schmittroth then gave an exhibition of clever boxing, followed by a draw bout between Graham and Bosworth. In a wrestling match next on the list Isom defeated Holder and then young Cline put his opponent, Losey, on the mat for the winning count. A volunteer boxing match gave an exciting finish to the entertainment with a knockout.

Following the "ring" show there was a plentiful supply of good hot coffee and "eats" for everybody. The officers present included Lieut. J. M. McNulty, Lieut. (J. G.) W. A. Brunick, Lieut. (J. G.) Wheeler, Lieut. (J. G.) W. M. Greer, Ensign Bayne, Ensign Carroll, Ensign Holcomb, and Boatswain Field. Chief Quartermaster Clarke and wife enjoyed the entertainment from start to finish, while Mrs. Walter Field, Mrs. E. G. Isom, Mrs. Katherine Smith, and Mrs. Roy Cline were among the gentler gender who graced the occasion with their pleasing presence.

BRANCH BANK QUESTION

AFFECTING THE BEACH

In an opinion recently submitted to Comptroller of the Currency Dawes, it has been held by Attorney General Daugherty, that national banks may establish branches within cities of their location for the receipt of deposits and the cashing of checks, but such branches may not engage in a general banking business.

Explaining the opinion to the joint congressional banking committee, Mr. Dawes said he was of the opinion that branches for the performance of even these limited functions could not be established in localities where the state laws or practices prohibit state banks from rendering similar services.

Discussing the branch banking business at length, the comptroller declared that the development of such banking, unless curbed, will mean the destruction of the national banks and of the federal reserve system and the substitution of a highly centralized private controlled reserve system.

Beach Baseball

NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE

TEAM TO PLAY HERE

NEXT SUNDAY SURELY

Manager L. A. Shaffer announces that he has arranged a game at Ocean Beach next Sunday with the Neighborhood House team against his local champions. A big turn out of fans is expected and some mighty fine ball playing is promised.

HARKEN TO THE CHALLENGE

By Oscar Jungbluth, Umpire

After having a game booked from early in the week the Neighborhood House club decided to call off said game at the last minute, leaving the Beach without a game for last Sunday afternoon, much to the disappointment of all baseball fans, not saying a word about the feelings of the O. B. team!

After seven straight wins the O. B. club was all primed to take the scalp of the eighth victim (Neighborhood House).

With Vitak, pitching ace of the team in shape, we are ready to take on the best—no one barred—so let us hear from some good fast team.

RIGHT OFF THE BAT

That driving rain the other night beat the local diamond into fine shape for fast ball playing.

Captain "Herb" Webster stands pat on the assertion that his bunch of bat wielders can't be beat in biffing the ball 'round these diggings.

Manager L. A. Shaffer was a mighty busy fellow last Saturday, trying to secure a team to oppose his high-stepping aggregation, when the Neighborhood boys reneged at the last minute. Better luck next time, twinkling "Star."

Arrangements are being made for publishing in this column from time to time brief sketches of the baseball biography of the members of the O. B. ball club.

Ye fans are requested to send in some lines of suggestions, opinions and the like for the promotion of the national game at the beach.

MATRIMONIAL WEATHER

A gentleman not long ago kept a meteorological diary of his wife's temper. Here it is:

Monday—Rather cloudy; in the afternoon rainy.

Tuesday—Vaporish; brightened a little toward evening.

Wednesday—Changeable; gloomy; inclined to rain.

Thursday—High wind and some peals of thunder.

Friday—Fair in the morning; variable till afternoon; cloudy at night.

Saturday—A gentle breeze; hazy; afternoon thick fog and a few flashes of lightning.

Sunday—Tempestuous and rainy; toward evening somewhat calmer.—Boston Transcript.

A PRAYER
By Grace E. Hall

Lord, I have drunk from strange and varied fountains,
And still a thirst is dry upon my tongue;
I am not satisfied; the fever mounts
Within my veins; my nerves are harshly strung;
No substance have I garnered that has filled
The emptiness of soul that still is mine,
Though mortal joy for fleeting hour has thrilled,
It palled at last, like vapid, tasteless wine.

Lay Thou upon my lips some potion sweet,
For I have tasted aloe—aye, and gall!
Tis but in fairness I should have complete—
In final years, exemption from it all;
Assuage this thirst! Some fountain there must be
Where others have been blessed, to long no more;
Give one full draught of happiness to me,
That Life, long loitering, has failed to pour.

There is a sedative within Thy grace—
I've seen its power transform a human heart;
It leaves a nameless calm upon the face,
Gives strength to live and play a nobler part;
The founts of life are bubbling full and free;
But sediment encrusts each brimming cup—
Hold Thou against my lips eternally
Thy living truth—and let me humbly sup.

The Beach Is Growing BIGGER, BETTER AND BUSIER

The farmer as a result can't make ends meet and when he gets into difficulties the unsound money speculator steps in and buys up mortgaged farm lands cheap—and thus it is mostly the speculator who profits by paying off the mortgages with currency worth less than a dozen eggs—unless the courts stop him.

More than that, if farm mortgage debt can be paid off with almost worthless currency, so can corporations pay off their bonded debt—the bonds in which many a farmer's savings, and many a widow's and orphan's inheritance, are invested.

Furthermore all pipe dreams are too good to be true. They are not what they seem. The smoke is wearing off in Germany and they are coming down to earth with a dull thud.
It is beginning to be realized that the net result of a paper money nightmare is that producers are robbed and speculators enriched. Farmers are unable to raise prices for their products fast enough to keep up with the falling purchasing power of unsound money. The value of such money slips away from them like a handful of dry sand. It brings back to them less in purchases than they gave of their products to get it.

America's Marvels

NATURAL AND OTHERWISE

By T. T. Maxey

DE YOUNG'S MEMORIAL MUSEUM

A habit of collecting antiquities led Mr. M. H. DeYoung, a public-spirited citizen of San Francisco, to build a museum in which to house his own and other collections and present it to the city.

Two appropriate buildings of Egyptian style, each 140 feet wide and 510 feet long, joined by a broad corridor supporting a beautiful tower, compose this museum. Salmon-tinted, and set down amid pleasingly landscaped gardens in Golden Gate park, this ensemble presents an imposing appearance.

The forty-five galleries contain more than one million objects. Their value is fabulous. The extent, oddity, variety, and completeness of the displays is amazing.

There are priceless oil paintings from the brushes of the masters; engravings of great value from many countries and of many periods; the celebrated Kunz collection containing specimens of every type of precious and semi-precious stone; coins from practically every country on the globe; a collection of reproductions of the crown jewels of the world; a collection of drums, some of which may have called warriors to battle in far-off lands; samples of precious needlework and laces dating back to the Eleventh century; the great Dore vase of bronze, 10 feet tall, weighing about 6,000 pounds and valued at $250,000; tapestries, rich, rare, and beautiful; a pair of enormous lions in cloisonné, made for the Imperial palace at Peking, China; two giant bronze lanterns some ten feet tall, from the Temple of Nankai-San, Kobe.

The history of warfare of many nations is silently told by implements of destruction used from the time of the World war back to the days when men fought clad in armor. Here is a chair used by George Washington in 1789; there a Japanese teakwood cabinet 200 years old; yonder the bell (from the steamship Oregon) that clamored forth the news that California had been admitted to the Union, and a battered piece of wood from the vessel on which Napoleon sailed from Elba to France. Mirroring the civilization of past centuries is a mummy which probably lived about 200 years B. C.; another is a tear bottle, it having been an ancient custom for mourners to preserve their tears as visible evidence of their grief. There is a collection of pipes from far-off lands that would make the mouth of any smoker run water, and other objects of a surprising nature too numerous to mention.

Impressive and picturesque ceremonies were conducted by California Grand Lodge of Masons at the laying of the cornerstone of the office building of the capitol extension project. Grand Master William A. Sherman, assisted by the Sacramento Masonic bodies, conducted the ceremonies. Governor Richardson was prevented from being present by reason of his recent illness.

Much ceremony and a long program marked the opening of the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles, which is the last addition to a chain of smart hostleries.

A waiting list of 563 applicants against an active student body of 750 is the situation at Pomona College. The entire quota of the college is filled, which includes 225 first year students.

LET'S MAKE IT CHRONIC

Fire Prevention Week—October 7 to 13 is being more widely observed this year than ever before.

Chambers of commerce, schools, theaters, Rotary clubs, women's clubs, Red Cross chapters, Boy and Girl Scouts and many other interests in all parts of the country combined property by fire.

This is excellent co-operation in the interest of conservation of human and national wealth but the great lesson should be that fire prevention is a year-round proposition and not a matter for attention simply during some special week.

COURAGE AND CONSISTENCY

It has been freely and truly said that "In few lines of human endeavor is real courage so necessary as in that of running a community newspaper."

Moral courage is required in deciding what to print, and some times it is equally necessary in deciding what not to print.

Moral and physical courage, however, are characteristic of many newspaper men in whom the element of business courage appears to be wholly lacking.

It is lack of such courage which has doomed many small publishers from time immemorial to a life of unrecompensed toil.

They fear to charge a fair price; dislike to offend an unreasonable customer, or fail to maintain consistent business policies regardless of immediate consequences.

While other business men unhesitatingly raise prices whenever costs make such a course necessary, many publishers sometime accept unprofitable rates for fear of losing a little gross business and soon reach the end of their tether or else lead a hopeless treadmill existence—all through the lack of courage and consistency.

By way of paraphrasing, in the vineyard of publicity a worker is worthy of proper pay!

During the first six months of 1923, 830,300 school books were turned out at the state printing office at a cost of $119,251.59. The production cost of these books represented a decrease of 7 per cent over previous cost, the saving having totaled $7,523.26.

Custom agents at San Francisco seized six trunkloads of small arms and ammunition on the dock just before the sailing time of the Pacific Mail liner, President Pierce, which are believed to have been for use of some warring faction in the Orient.

The assessed valuation of California is $5,715,519,905 an increase of $580,214,705, or 11 per cent, over 1922. Land acreage assessed for the 1923-1924 tax year also shows an increase, 50,622,261 acres being assessed this year as against 50,423,112 in 1922. Real estate assessed this year totals $2,582,188,859, while last year's total was $2,354,110,224.

State Sup't Wood would have a law enacted to pay the total cost of school books out of the corporation tax, and in a statement said that he would father a movement before the next legislature to have such a law passed, so as to provide sufficient funds to supply all elementary school text books. The slash in the text book budget has compelled local communities to furnish a portion of such supplies.

HONORS AWARDED

TO BOY SCOUTS BY OCTOBER COURT

The October court of honor was held at the county courthouse last Friday and twenty-four scouts received awards from S. M. Bingham, the awarding officer. M. F. Heller, in the absence of Judge Marsh, acted as judge of the court. The examinations in the various subjects were carried out in more detail than in some of the larger courts.

Officer Webster arrested V. Wade, a carpenter, early this week at Ocean Beach on a charge of passing worthless checks in order to meet payments on an automobile. He was held for further hearing.

DROVE INTO SWARM OF BEES

After That Experience Congressman Will Probably Do His Traveling in a Railroad Coach.

Bullets are better than bees. It is safer to be an aviator than an apiarist.

These are the conclusions of Congressman Royal Johnson of Aberdeen, S. D., former first lieutenant in the Three Hundred and Thirtieth Infantry, Seventy-ninth division, A. E. F. Despite his army service, Johnson still likes camp life, so when faced recently with the proposition of getting the family back to South Dakota from Washington he organized a new expeditionary force of himself, his three boys and his bulldog and fared forth with the family flivver and a couple of pup tents.

All went well—or as well as things ordinarily go with tin-can tourists—until they reached Missouri. Then as they were putting along, oblivious of all danger, catastrophe overwhelmed them out of a clear sky. Literally just that.

For without warning, premonition or advance notice of any sort they collided full tilt with a swarm of migrating Missouri honey bees.

The open windshield scooped them in by the scores and distributed them indiscriminately over driver, boys and bulldog.

Space and vocabulary are too limited to describe the ensuing activities. When the tourists finally emerged—swollen, but not with pride or victory—the flivver was the only part of the expedition still in running order.

AT LAST HIS TIME CAME

Fogarty Waited Long, but Finally the Captain of the Football Team Summoned Him.

Fogarty was a hard worker, but he simply had no natural ability to play football. All during his high school career he had been a bench warmer, a substitute, and never had he played in an important game.

When he went to college he was rewarded for his plugging with a substitute position on the varsity. But during the three years of his college football career his chance never seemed to come.

At last the final game, the most important of the season, came, and for three quarters Fogarty watched his team, unable to overcome their opponents' three-point lead, from the bench. But after a grinding line plunge the fullback lay stretched upon the ground and the captain, turning, shouted: "Fogarty, Fogarty."

Ah, Fogarty knew what they wanted. Running swiftly across the field, he inquired, "Whadda ya want, Cap?" "Say, Fogarty, old man," replied the captain, "take off yer pants and give 'em to the fullback. His are tore."—Prize Story in Judge.

A HOME-WORKER

"Is Mrs. Tongue much of a home worker?"

"Works every home she knows—for all the news!"

The Defense.

Mary Garden, in a discussion of modern dances at a tea in Chicago, said:

"Of course the girls who go in for such dances defend them. That is to be expected."

"I know a woman who once said to her daughter, a very modern girl: 'Really, Jane, is that man in the gray car throwing kisses to you?'"

"Yes, mother dear," said Jane, "but I'm throwing them back."

Pet Jackdaw Accompanies Child.

A little girl living at Tetbury, Eng., owns a jackdaw which daily escorts its young mistress home from school.

The bird, leaving the house at mid-day, flies across the town to the school, where he awaits the child, and then, flying and hopping beside her, accompanies her home. The bird also accompanies his mistress on shopping errands.

Tough Start in Married Life.

His pocket picked of all his money and his railway tickets while he was waiting with his bride at the railway station, a Chicago groom was forced to cancel his honeymoon trip. With confetti-covered hat and coat, carrying his suitcase, and his bride still wearing the bridal bouquet, the "happy" couple plodded to the police station to report the theft.

Cat Mothers Deserted Chicks.

There is a local interest in a cat which adopted five chickens at a home in Los Angeles. The hen deserted her brood. The cat sleeps in the stable and the chicks get under her just as they did under the hen, with their tiny heads sticking out through fur instead of feathers. The cat seems to enjoy the novelty.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

The August summary of conditions in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District gives the following: Prices of farm products, which have been declining during recent months, advanced during August. The majority of the principal agricultural products of this district, including barley, rice, cotton, sugar, cattle, sheep, lambs and hogs, are now selling at prices well above those of a year ago. Wheat prices at central markets have fluctuated about $1 per bushel, but have remained above low levels reached during July.

Attorneys and life insurance agents are agreed that if Alex—Kels pays with his life for the murder of the unidentified man at his Lodi ranch, the insurance companies carrying his risks will have to pay their respective amounts to the widow. In nearly every instance where similar cases have come to settlement, courts have ruled in favor of the beneficiary. Almost the only exception has been where the beneficiary was proven to be an accomplice in the crime for which the insured was executed.

California's Basic wealth survey shows that the individual resident in this state is richer than the dweller of any other state in the union. Federal taxes of all kinds in California netted $131,653,000, which is a half a million more than was collected from the other twelve western states, Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines and the eastern states of Delaware, Vermont and New Hampshire. California leads all states in the amount of individual savings in banks.

Gabriel Alphonse Mourey, notorious San Francisco bandit, for whose capture $20,000 was offered for the theft of $90,000 worth of Shattuck jewels in New York in 1922, was shot and killed by Paris police. Detective Sergeant Frank McGrayan of San Francisco trailed Mourey through Europe, Mexico and the United States in an unsuccessful effort to capture him.

State Surveyor Kingsbury, whose duties include preparing the rules governing Indian reservations, declares that the tribes in Modoc, Lassen and Plumas county, who have taken up their abode on the 1,400-acre reservation set aside by the last legislature, will be allowed free conduct of the reservation without a mass of regulations from the state.

There is reported considerable sentiment in regard to oil development near Orange and property owners are in favor of drilling on vacant lots near the outskirts of the city. It is said the Orange council is in favor of any reasonable program that will aid oil development in the vicinity, which will not injure property values within the city limits.

From Colusa comes the story that Harry Lamar, an indigent who died recently in the Colusa county hospital, was the son of Lucius Quintus Curtiss Lamar, famous Confederate lieutenant-general, who was later a senator from Mississippi, secretary of the interior of the Cleveland cabinet, and at the time of his death a justice of the Supreme court.

The death of James Colvin, Los Angeles mining engineer, three months ago, has brought forward two women, each claiming to be his wife and desiring his estate. Although both had lived in that city for ten years, neither had heard of the other and each declared the deceased a model husband, though frequently away from home on mine inspection.

The executors of the estate of the late Frank G. Drum have applied to the state railway commission for permission to sell to the Southern Pacific company the Chowchilla Pacific Railroad, which consists of ten miles of track extending from Chowchilla to Dairyland, Madera county, and is the property of the deceased.

Federal authorities have begun a drive in the southern part of the state to clean out "wildcat" oil promoters. Charges of misuse of the mails were made in the arrest there of Wyatt Nix of Texas, who, inspectors declare, has sold a quarter of a million dollars in worthless units in Stevens county, Tex., land.

Attorney General Webb has been appealed to by A. W. Morgue, Durham high school trustee, to expedite the prosecution of five high school boys, who he charges, kidnapped him on the eve of a high school bond election. Morgue opposed the issuance of bonds and says he was forcibly taken into Glenn county.

Pier No. 1 of the $4,000,000 bridge to span the Carquinez strait, was formally anchored, Sept. 29. Pier No. 1 is the first of the five which will support the 3,300-foot span across the strait. Estimates of the chief consulting engineer place the opening of the structure for traffic in July, 1925.

Charlie, the noted elephant of the movies, was executed at Los Angeles because he had become unmanageable. He was 189 years old and had spent twenty-five years in circuses and film studios in this country. The University of California will preserve the beast's heart for experimentation.

The Mammoth Copper Company's smelter in Shasta county, closed since May, 1919, is almost ready to begin operation, with between 250 and 300 men now employed in the work of repairing and putting the transportation system in shape. Ore extraction has already been resumed in a small way.
